

The triumph of this restoration is that the homeowners, Katrin Zimmermann and Michael John Downie (opposite, in the second-floor study), were able to imbue its three century-old stories with light and airiness that belie its dimensions, a long and narrow 18 by 60 feet. Detail was kept to a minimum; flooring is the palest maple, paint a warm eggshell white.